council on aging

In Home Fall Prevention Program

Denise Johnson, MS
Director of Senior Nutrition and Health

How COA implemented a successful In-Home Fall Prevention Program that provided equitable access to homebound older adults who could not participate in community-based services. The eight-week program combined fall prevention assessments, individualized strength and balance exercise programs, social connection, home safety, emergency preparedness and five nutritious meals weekly to improve mobility, reduce fall risk, and support overall health and independence.